I strongly think that books are better than T.V.

Some people think T.V is easier but how is getting outside to get a book hard. There are many different types of books, because you don’t want to read the same book all the time that would be boring.

Books are fun and full of excitement unlike T.V which just makes you laze around all the time, and not exercise your brain at all.

Books have dragons, princes and damsels in distress. T.V is just you sitting down on a chair watching a piece of glass with pictures in it.

Books can tell you amazing facts like things from the past. T.V cannot tell you factual things because they don’t have factual channels. So that’s why I think books are better than T.V.
